OISEAU IS BEATEN BY CARY.

O. W. DEPPERER AND HIS CROWD SCORE A TREMENDOUS COUP.

Belle Strome Another Surprise—Dandelion Wins the Delaware Handicap—Pope Joan's Auspicious Debut in James R. Keene's Colors.

Saratoga, N. Y., August 14.—Dandelion, at odds of 4 to 1, won the Delaware Stakes for President Hitchcock, of the Saratoga Racing Association today. Dandelion had as company such fast millers as Inquisitor, Kiamasha, Dolly Spanker, Von Tromp and Johnstown. Everyone of the quintette was in receipt of substantial weight allowance from the Hitchcock four-year-old and in administering a defeat so clean-cut and decisive in fast time, Dandelion clearly established his claim to eminence among the all aged division of thoroughbreds in training.

Another large crowd was attracted to the picturesque race course today. It was a fine card. The weather was cool and clear and the track in prime condition for fast time. Aside from Dandelion's performance, the reappearance of Oiseau, last season's second best to Sysonby, was the most interesting feature. Next to Horace E.'s downfall, the defeat of J. B. Brady's colt by an ordinary selling plater like Cary created the biggest sensation of the season. Notwithstanding that it was his first appearance in nearly a year, Oiseau was held at prohibitive odds by the layers, yet many big commissions went in on him. Critical observers were unanimous in declaring the Ormus four-year-old as fit as a fiddle. He looked drawn and lined down to an unexpected degree, the pattern of his ribs was plainly visible. As a matter of fact, he looked as if he had just come out of a season's severe campaigning. In the race he showed all his old-time speed, but eventually gave way to the lightweight's persistent efforts in a most craven manner, although right at the end he was, if anything, going the faster of the two and proved unexpectedly willing to continue his journey. He was worked out an extra five furlongs, being timed the full mile and a half in 2:34.

Reverting back to Cary, it has developed that the Drake-Gates following won many thousands of dollars over his victory. Backed from 60 to 1, down to 20 to 1, the ring was mulcted right and left in the most heartless fashion, the place and show odds being cut to 4 and 2 to 1 respectively at post time. Miller worked a wonderful improvement in Celeres. Oiseau having all he could do to beat him out for second place.

Francis and Heffernan, two jockeys, victims of rough riding, fell in the first race, but escaped unhurt. Finn, who rode the favorite, Toots Mook, into an ignominious defeat, was responsible. The resurrected Belle Strome won away out in the open in a big field. Bertha E., which had finished a good third to Ravena in her preceding start, ran a bad race, which was foreshadowed in the betting.

J. R. Keene's two-year-old filly, Pope Joan, in her maiden effort, beat a good lot of two-year olds at five and a half furlongs without half trying. The chestnut daughter of Disguise—Editha, and therefore a half sister to Hurst Park, had been tried in phenomenally fast time—five furlongs in 58 seconds, it is said—and was the medium of some tremendous plunging at odds-on. She is probably the strongest card that Mr. Keene has in the Futurity.

Miller won another selling race with the true running Momentum in the fifth, but was considered lucky to have finished in front of the badly ridden western colt Montgomery.

I Told You and Belle of Jessamine, racing as a team, ran away from the other three-year-old maidens in the closing race at a mile.

Toots Mook was claimed out of the first race by A. L. Austin for $2,120.

BELMONT'S TRAINING STABLE IS BURNED.

New York, August 14.—Fire destroyed the training stable, a glass-enclosed structure, on August Belmont's farm near Babylon, L. I., yesterday. The blaze is believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in the hay loft. The workmen organized themselves into an amateur fire department and the thoroughbred stock was all saved. Lord of the Vale, sustained a slight scratch on his foreleg. The horses were driven into one of the lots and then were taken to the Belmont stables at Belmont Park. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

KEENE BROTHERS HAVE A BIG STABLE.

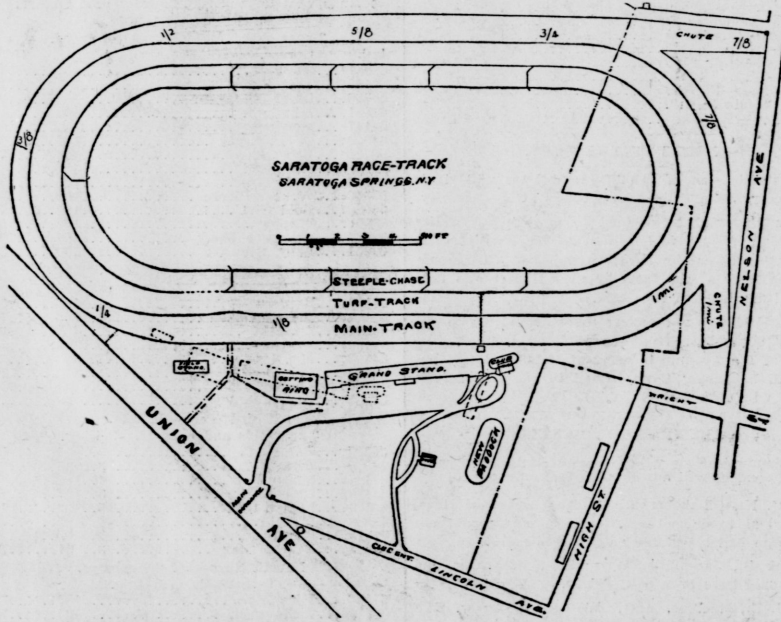

Lexington, Ky., August 14.—G. H. Keene has shipped a carload of yearlings to Memphis and a carload of horses in training to Louisville. The yearlings will be broken by trainer William Reed at Memphis. The Keene Brothers will have all told thirty-seven head of yearlings and twenty-six head of older horses, which will all be shipped later in the season to California for the winter. This gives a total of sixty-three horses to be used in making up the J. O. & G. H. Keene string next season.

MAHER SAYS HE IS NOT INSOLVENT.

New York, August 14.—Danny Maher, the jockey, who is in England, has made a demand for a jury trial in the bankruptcy proceedings brought in this city on May 8, against the firm of Long, Johnson & Maher, former proprietors of the Hotel Saranac. Maher, through his attorneys, has put in an answer in the case, in which he denies that he is insolvent, and contends that the assets of the firm exceed the debts by $6,000.

SARATOGA'S MODERN RACETRACK.

In reply to some queries concerning the Saratoga racetrack a diagram is here presented that will serve to show the different courses and chutes. Examination will disclose why so many fast seven-eighths of a mile races are run at Saratoga, the broad, straight start from a chute and but one curve conducting greatly to speedy performances. The track is within easy walking distance of the principal hotels, and the streets of approach are shown, as well as the outlines of the tracks and buildings.

FRED BURLEW GETS BROTHER TO PEGASUS.

$7,000 Is Considered Small Price for This Yearling—Sale Does Not Come Up to Expectations.

Saratoga, N. Y., August 14.—Today's sale of thoroughbred yearlings did not pan out as well as expected. August Belmont's Nursery Stud, J. E. Madden's Hamburg Place, the Millstream Stud and a few, the property of F. R. Hitchcock and Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., were represented in today's offerings. The twenty-eight sold brought a total of $23,225, an average of $829. Fourteen of those catalogued were not offered and one, the chestnut colt by Ogden—Lass of Wheatley, failed to elicit a bid. The star of the sale was the half brother to David Garrick and full brother to Pegasus. He was bought by Fred Burlew for $7,000. The figure was generally considered too low for such a good looking:

HORSE HAVEN TRAINERS AFTER THE PRIZE.

Saratoga, N. Y., August 14.—A stroll among the stables at Horse Haven reveals the fact that many trainers are trying for the $100 prize which has been offered to the trainer who keeps the neatest and most presentable stable during the meeting. Harry Phillips, the former jockey, has made a dead set for the prize and has laid out the grass plots in front of his stable much as a landscape gardener might have done, using shells as the principal features of his outside decorations. Roger Minton has the Hayman stable decorated in the colors of the stable and the outfit has been likened to an Indian encampment.

MANZANO WINS FORT ERIE STEEPLECHASE.

Has a Hard Drive With Lulu Young—Private and Public Sales—Gossip.

Buffalo, N. Y., August 14.—The feature at Fort Erie today was the steeplechase over the short course. It was won by Manzano in the hardest kind of a drive from Lulu Young, the second choice. Gipsano, the favorite, was badly beaten. Sartor Resartus showed an unusual amount of early speed, but after leading for half the journey gave it up.

A number of owners here are weeding out their strings. There was an auction sale in the paddock in which six changed hands. Others were disposed of at private sale during the afternoon, among them being Limited, which was sold by Tom Ryan to Joe McLennan after her defeat in the second race. William Walker purchased Sheen of W. Gannon just before the sixth race and the mare ran in Walker's name. At the paddock sale the following changed hands: Toots, to E. L. Talley, for $250; Saddle Gay, to S. H. Stinson, for $75; Quiddity, to U. S. Wishard, for $60; Gold Back, to H. Dold, for $55; Soupre, to J. Mussum, for $80; Glendon, to H. Dold, for $65.

E. L. Talley has transferred the contract he held on jockey Goldstein to Joe McLennan.

W. Brien and R. I. Miller have arranged to ship their stables from here to Windsor on Sunday. Miller's string will be augmented at Windsor by four two-year-olds which "Sandy" McNaughton shipped there from Saratoga. In the lot is: They're Off, a colt which finished second at Saratoga a few days ago.

THINK RAINEY BROTHERS IN TOUGH LUCK.

"The turf misfortunes of the Rainey's of Cleveland, have caused a great deal of comment," says the Saratoga correspondent of the New York Sun. "When they decided to go into racing they signified a willingness to spend money with extreme lavishness. Jockey Radtke's contract was first purchased for $25,000. Then the two-year-old De Mund was purchased for $40,000, also Horace E., for $25,000, both youngsters having been disappointments so far. Sir Wilfred was bought for $16,000, but he has not accomplished much as yet. Anna May, Belcast and Heaslip have also been big disappointments. It is said that the Rainey's lost thousands in wagers burned up by De Mund in the early part of the year. It has been repeatedly stated that it was only on the strength of an alleged phenomenal half mile workout that the Rainey's paid $40,000 for De Mund, who has run ever since as if he belonged in the gold brick class. W. H. Daniel, another failure, was purchased during the Belmont Park meeting for $25,000 by E. S. Burke, Jr., a friend of the Rainey's, who has made no further investments."

RACING CARRIES THE BURDEN.

"The buzzards are happy," says Pop in the Toronto Sunday World. "A man was arrested here for defaulting in $300,000. He said stocks had gone the wrong way with him and avowed he had never seen a racecourse. All the same a reporter on a Toronto daily said the money had been lost in stocks and at the races. It was an untruth, but as long as the horses are dragged in the lie is justified in the act. But the buzzards are happy. Another defaulter in a couple of hundred thousand dollars has been heard from. He actually had a betting book and, of course, is worth more than the other fellow by that much, although even he only took to the races to make up his defalcations in stocks, and he succeeded to some extent, too. You can lie, steal, cheat and murder in stocks and still be virtuous, but look upon the horses and jail or the gallows for yours. And yet there are more people ruined in stocks and more money lost in a day than at the races in a year."

MUDDY TRACK AT LATONIA.

HEAVY MORNING RAIN CAUSES MANY WITHDRAWALS AND SOME SURPRISES.

Wee Lass Wins Handicap—Ill-advised Plunge on Coruscate—How Hubbard's Connections Manoeuvred for a Price and Got it.

Cincinnati, O., August 14.—A heavy rain fall during the morning rendered the Latonia track muddy and a good card of six races was somewhat marred by withdrawals. All of the five named to go in the handicap accepted the issue and the race was a lively betting affair, Wee Lass enjoying favoritism. There was an unaccountable plunge on Coruscate. This mare has never shown a liking for mud and some of her alleged inconsistent races last year were excused on that ground. The betting fraternity seemed to have overlooked this fact, for after her price had receded to 6 to 1, she was backed so industriously that she went to the post at half that price. She ran in keeping with her previous form in heavy going. She was outpaced at all stages of the journey and was never a serious contender in the race. Wee Lass rushed into the lead right after the start and remained there, winning as her rider pleased by five lengths. Nonie Lucille was second all the way. Devout made strenuous efforts to get up in the stretch, but she held him safe. The time, 1:30 1/4 for the seven furlongs was fast, considering the condition of the track.

Sharp practice on the part of Hubbard's connections enabled them to get a big price against their candidate. It was industriously circulated that the horse was on the verge of a breakdown, and many taking this for granted, began to plunge on Swiftwing and Imboden, with the result that the odds about Hubbard rose from 3 to 5 to 9 to 5. Then the right money was poured into the ring and the price forced down to evens at post time. Hubbard won as Nicol pleased.

J. B. Respass and his following are reported to have won a considerable sum by the victory of Martha Gorman, making her first start in a long time. She easily outclassed her opponents and simply cantered all the way.

Ex-jockey Hall broke into the ranks of winning owners when Webber landed the purse in the first race, beating among others the heavily backed Boscrrian.

There was a report last night that jockey Sobel, who was injured by a fall on Pirate's Dance, was in a very critical condition and that his death was momentarily expected. Today he was resting much easier and his recovery is expected. Jockey Jost is now out of danger.

Fred Luzader will ship La Pucelle and others to Douglas Park during the next few days.

The Fasig-Tipton Company wired today for permission to sell in the Latonia paddock thirty head of yearlings. The sale will take place August 29. The horses now in training comprising the string of T. H. Stevens & Sons will be sold by auction in the Latonia paddock on Friday next.

GET RESULTS BY THOUGHT TRANSMISSION.

Trainer at Saratoga Suggests a Way Out of the Difficulty to New York Poolroom Managers.

Saratoga, N. Y., August 14.—The information the New York poolrooms are getting from here is of an unreliable nature, and the delay practically nullifies its usefulness. What the next move will be no one seems to have an idea.

"They ought to employ some Chinamen, with their thought transmission schemes, to get ring information," said a horseman. "You may laugh, but I have seen the working of this thought transmission right here at Saratoga, and it never failed, either, though I don't say it could be amplified to cover the present situation. A few years ago two trainer friends of mine who stabled near each other in Horse Haven each had a Chinese cook. They were great betters when any horse from either stable which figured to have a good chance was running. But being economical, as well, they did not see fit to contribute any more to the gate than was necessary to carry out the scheme.

"One of them would go to the field to make the wager while the other would remain at the stable. Usually the stay-at-home was standing on a bench outside of the stable at the time of the running of the race. Not a glimpse could be seen of the course or of the people gathered there, but it wasn't necessary to wait for the betting commissioner to return to know the result of the race, at least so far as the medium of the Chinamen's wagers was concerned.

"Before the cheering over the result of the race had died out the Chinaman on the bench would know the fate of his wager. 'Him win,' he would say without a sign of enthusiasm if such happened to be the case, or 'Him beat,' or 'Him second,' as the case might be. I had heard this story from my trainer friends, but was skeptical until I saw it tested several times and learned that it was infallible. How was it done? Thought transmission and nothing else. The Chinese have been famous for this for centuries, you know, and these apparently ignorant cooks were adepts at it."

The important race in England today is the International Breeders' Two-Year-Old Stakes, at five furlongs, which is to be decided at Kempton Park.

SALVIDERE BRED TO WIN SARATOGA SPECIAL.

"It was a great performance, but the victory of Salvidere is not without its pathetic angle," says E. C. Smith in the course of his comment on the Saratoga Special in the Morning Telegraph. "Salvidere was bred by the late Captain Sam Brown, who just missed winning the Saratoga Special of 1903 with Broomstick. Captain Brown had an especial fancy for this race, was always a subscriber to it, and it was his great ambition to breed a winner of the great event."

"He had been breeding thoroughbreds in a limited way for many years, but not until the late William C. Whitney established the Saratoga Special did he go into breeding on anything like an extensive scale. Shortly after the running of the first Saratoga Special Captain Brown bought a farm in Kentucky, which he named Senorita Stud, in honor of a mare that had borne his colors to many a good victory in the old days."

"Here Captain Brown established a number of the choicest matrons that money could buy. No price was too high for him to pay for the right material. He declared that his one ambition was to breed a winner for the Saratoga Special, and that if he could do so he would be well repaid for any expense his breeding endeavors might put him to, even if not another winner ever came from Sen-orita Farm."

"For the first few years Captain Brown bred many of his mares to outside sires. In 1903 W. H. Rowe, the breeding expert, was called into consultation by Captain Brown in regard to mating his mares. The Captain had taken one season to Sir Dixon, and Mr.
 Rowe decided that this would be the proper mating for Sallie of Navarre because of the doubling of the blood of Leamington. But Captain Brown had a desire to breed the great Reckon, which he had purchased for $14,500, to Sir Dixon."

"All right," said Mr. Rowe. "You have a season to Belvidere, the full brother to Sir Dixon. Breed Sallie of Navarre to him, and you get the same infusion of blood, even if Belvidere is not so good a sire as Sir Dixon."

"This was decided upon and Salvidere is the result. Reckon, bred to Sir Dixon, produced Estimate, a winner this season, but a moderate one so far.
 "Captain Brown's great desire to breed a Saratoga Special winner was therefore gratified before he had been breeding extensively for two years, but before the running of the race Captain Brown had been gathered to his fathers and Salvidere carried the colors of another in the race. The case of Captain Brown parallels that of the late Marcus Daly, who died just when the great breeding plans he had laid out began to bear fruit. Sysonby was a case in point."

"Salvidere is not only a good and game colt, but there is no better blood lines in the pages of the Stud Book than those represented by him."

"Sallie of Navarre, his dam, is by Henry of Navarre, out of Sallie McClelland, both of which horses did valiant service for the late Byron McClelland.
 Sallie McClelland was by Hindoo, out of Red and Blue, by Alarm. Her next dam was Maggie B. B.
 Henry of Navarre, the sire of Sallie of Navarre, is by Knight of Ellerslie and he by the Leamington horse Eolus.

"Salvidere furnishes a striking illustration of a horse bred with the utmost precision for the winning of a certain race and making good. Such instances are few and far between, and the pity of it all is that Captain Brown could not have lived to see the fruition of his one great hope and the greatest ambition of the closing days of a busy life."

TWENTY LEADING AMERICAN SIRE.

The success of Dancellon in landing the Invinible Handicap at Brighton Beach and the Saratoga Handicap has brought Hamburg up in the winning stallion list until he is now a close second to Meddler. The latter still holds the premiership and with the fine filly Tangle evidently about ready for winning action, is likely to have his present advantage made more decisive in the near future. To and including August 11, the progeny of the twenty leading stallions had won the following aggregate sums:

Sire.	Pedigree.	Amount.
Meddler, by St. Gatien—Busyboddy	$74,585
Hamburg, by Hanover—Lady Reel	71,040
Watercross, by Springfield—Wharfdale	59,290

NOTES OF THE TURF.

Faust, the son of Mirthful and Imp, will, it is said, carry John E. Madden's colors in the Futurity.

John Dymont has decided to permanently retire Fort Hunter. He will be sent to the Dymont farm in Canada after the Saratoga meeting. There are six sucklings at the farm by Fort Hunter and they are all fine lookers, it is said.

Hercule was not among the May entries to the eighth Champion Steeplechase which is to be decided at the Autumn meeting at Belmont Park, but he will be among those named in the August list which will close today.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

[Communications without names and addresses of senders will not be answered or noticed.]

H. C. K., Oklahoma, O. T. The backer of Hazel Patch had to depend on him alone and would not have won had his stable mate finished first.

Frank D., Janesville, Wis. The parlay won and you should have been paid $11.20.

H. J. B., Macinac, Mich. We cannot answer. We do not know.

Dave, St. Louis, and others. No replies are made unless full names and addresses are sent in.

J. W., Chicago. The parlay lost unless it was agreed beforehand that it was to be void as to Rubinoff if the Latonia track was not fast. In the latter case it should be treated as a single bet on Ben Hodder and paid.
